Keynote Address, Sponsored by Columbia Gas of Maryland
The Power of Safety First, Cliff Meidl

Two-time Olympian, accident survivor and damage prevention advocate Cliff Meidl will share a powerful message on resilience, leadership and safety. Drawing from his personal survival story and decades of experience, he will explore the human impact of safety and the importance of anticipating risk, recognizing hazards and making disciplined decisions before incidents occur.

Attendees will gain a deeper understanding of the human impact of safety, the importance of 811 and safe digging practices, and the role each individual plays in building a stronger safety culture. Cliff will also highlight the value of proactive risk awareness, resilient leadership and team accountability, showing how organizations can turn challenges and adversity into opportunities for meaningful action, stronger decision-making and a safety-first culture.

Moderator: Matt Ruddo, One Call Concepts, Inc.

The State of Damage Prevention: Data, Dollars and the Path Forward
(All-Conference Session)

Underground utility damages are on the rise across the country. Sarah Magruder Lyle, President & CEO of Common Ground Alliance and Executive Director of the Damage Prevention Action Center, will explore what the latest DIRT data reveals about industry gaps and emerging success stories, as well as key findings from CGA's economic impact report highlighting the true cost of infrastructure damage. She will also discuss how the Damage Prevention Action Center works with federal and state lawmakers to strengthen safety laws and create the shared accountability needed to reverse the trend.

Presenter: Sarah Magruder Lyle, Common Ground Alliance

Moderator: Jason Lyon, City of Dover

11:00 – 11:30 a.m.
*Tidelines Ballroom
& Second Floor*

Session Block 1

Protecting Critical Infrastructure: Recognizing and Responding to Security Threats
— Atlantic Ballroom

Those working in and around utility infrastructure can play an important role in identifying potential security threats. This session will explore what to look for, when concerns should be reported and how utilities respond when potential threats arise.

Through real-world examples and expert insights, safety and security experts from BGE and PHI will discuss physical threats to critical infrastructure and the warning signs to recognize. They will also cover the role of law enforcement and information sharing, as well as how field personnel can serve as an important first line of defense. Attendees will leave with practical guidance for strengthening situational awareness and responding when something doesn't seem right.

Presenters: Anthony Colarulo, PHI; Mary Hill, Ferguson Trenching Company; Wayne Mullaney, BGE

Moderator: Anna Rhodes, Washington Gas

From Challenge to Change: How CGA Best Practices Take Shape — Seaside 1/2/3 — Sponsored by Badger

CGA Best Practices begin with a real-world industry challenge and evolve through stakeholder collaboration into solutions designed to strengthen damage prevention nationwide. Attendees will get a closer look at how the Best Practices process works, from identifying an issue and submitting a proposed practice to task team review, stakeholder input, consensus and final approval. The session will also examine how industry data, emerging challenges and lessons from the field help drive the development of new practices and updates to existing ones. Presenters will highlight several issues currently under consideration and explain how industry professionals can contribute their own experience, ideas and perspectives to help shape future Best Practices.

Presenters: Kelly Cahill, Common Ground Alliance; Scott Brown, Washington Gas
Moderator: Mike Burns, UtiliQuest, LLC

Refreshments will be available throughout the afternoon sessions, thanks to our Thursday Refreshments Sponsor, MRZ Solutions, LLC

Lunch, Sponsored by Lamberts Cable Splicing Company, LLC

2:00 – 3:00 p.m.

Session Block 2

How Monthly Damage Prevention and Membership Meetings Turn Conversations Into Solutions — Atlantic Ballroom

Miss Utility of MD/DC's and Delmarva 811's monthly damage prevention and membership meetings bring stakeholders together to share information, work through challenges and strengthen damage prevention efforts. This session will explore how these meetings create opportunities for collaboration, practical education and problem-solving across the industry. Attendees will learn how meetings are structured, the types of topics and data regularly discussed, and how participation can build valuable connections and a stronger understanding of damage prevention laws and best practices.

Through real-world examples and firsthand success stories, presenters will highlight how these monthly meetings help turn industry challenges into productive conversations, stronger relationships and actionable solutions.

Presenters: Kevin Woolbright, Construction Angels; Jason Lyon, City of Dover; Ryan DiChristofaro, Brandywine Construction Company, Inc.; Ryan Reese, Washington Gas; Scott Brown, Washington Gas

Moderator: Jennifer Arroyo, One Call Concepts, Inc.

Precision in Practice: Using RTK Technology to Improve Mapping and Prevent Damages — Seaside 1/2/3 — Sponsored by Gray & Son, Inc.

Real-time kinematic (RTK) technology is changing how utilities and locating professionals capture, manage and use underground infrastructure data. By creating precise, timestamped location records that integrate with GIS platforms, RTK can improve mapping accuracy, reduce locator error and strengthen damage prevention efforts. Through real-world examples and case studies, attendees will see how organizations are using the technology to document locates, sync field data back to utility mapping systems, reduce repeat field work, improve access to hard-to-find facilities and lower liability. Presenters will also discuss common barriers to adoption, operational efficiencies and the potential return on investment.

Presenters: Kelvin Cherrington, Vivax-Metrotech; Ricky Lewis, MRZ Solutions, LLC
Moderator: David Wilkins, WSSC Water

3:15 – 4:00 p.m.

Session Block 3

The Impact of Overnotification on the 811 System — Atlantic Ballroom —

Sponsored by GridHawk, LLC

Overnotification and repeated ticket updates can place unnecessary strain on the 811 system, sending locators into the field to mark areas where no digging will occur. This session will discuss how more efficient use of the system can help reduce ticket volume, ease the burden on locating resources and improve safety. Through real-world examples, presenters will explore the impact of unnecessary notifications and repeated updates, along with practical steps organizations can take to improve their processes. The discussion will also address the importance of accurate facility records, quality locating and shared responsibility across stakeholders to help the system work more effectively.

Presenter: Jennifer Arroyo, One Call Concepts, Inc.

Moderator: Ricky Lewis, MRZ Solutions, LLC

Or

PHMSA Update — Seaside 1/2/3

The Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA) is a U.S. Department of Transportation agency responsible for developing and enforcing regulations for the safe, reliable, and environmentally sound transportation of energy and other hazardous materials. This session will provide an overview of PHMSA and its role in the protection of underground pipelines from excavation activity, as well as how your company can improve its safe digging practices and reduce damages to vital underground infrastructure.

Presenter: Hung Nguyen, PHMSA

Moderator: Michael Stein, BGE

Leadership in Construction and Beyond (All-Conference Session)

Drawing on more than three decades in the construction industry, David Miguel explores what effective leadership really looks like and why it matters in high-risk work environments. Through lessons shaped by years of asking why capable, hardworking people still get hurt on the job, he challenges attendees to rethink how leadership influences safety, decision-making and accountability. Attendees will leave with practical ideas and a stronger understanding of how meaningful leadership can make an impact both professionally and personally.

Presenter: David Miguel, Underground Safety & Supply, LLC

Moderator: Mike Barton, Chesapeake Employers' Insurance Company
